

LUTHERAN CENTER FOR RELIGIOUS LIBERTY

Christmas Greetings

'Tis the season when neighbors greet one another just a little more cheerfully, clerks smile when a patient customer shares a kind word of cheer, co-workers laugh at familiar stories, and children are sure to greet family members with extra niceness—lest they earn a spot on a dreaded list.

Christmas greetings are sent to family and friends as cards, letters, or photos reunite loved ones and offer warm wishes.

“Merry Christmas” remains the preferred greeting for strangers in long lines, passersby on the street, or those delivering packages to our doors.

The Lutheran Center for Religious Liberty pauses to greet you with a heartfelt “Merry Christmas,” accompanied by prayers for joy, hope, and peace for you and your family in the coming year.

Yet all our greetings pale in comparison to the words spoken by the angel to the shepherds in Bethlehem’s fields so many years ago:

“Fear not: for, behold, I bring you good tidings of great joy, which shall be to all people. For unto you is born this day in the city of David a Saviour, which is Christ the Lord.”

May the Good News of Christ give you and yours great joy – now and always.

Merry Christmas!
