Love at First Sight

Is it really possible to fall eternally in love with another person with just one encounter? Is “love at first sight” really a thing? From personal experience I can answer, “Yes!”

The day came after a long nine-month wait, that I drove my wife to the hospital. When the nurse handed me a small blue bundle, I gazed into the bald, wrinkled face of my son and I was hopelessly and eternally in love. Two more blue bundles confirmed that my heart was capable of more love than I thought I had. I was overwhelmed when I held the pink bundle – Daddy’s little girl.

Yes, love at first sight is real.

After my wife was called to her heavenly home, I was at a restaurant when I caught a glimpse of someone I knew. Yes, love at first sight led to a marriage.

Our babies are grown and we have fallen in love 12 more times as we glimpsed each of our grandchildren. The love of a man and a woman is expressed in their children and grandchildren.

I thank God for His gift of marriage and children and a chance for love at first sight.

The Lutheran Center for Religious Liberty advocates for traditional marriage.
